This bill is explained in the NOTES provided by the Joint Legislative Council in the bill.

ASSEMBLY BILL 151

For further information see the state and local fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

JOINT LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL PREFATORY NOTE: This bill was prepared for the Joint Legislative Council's Special Committee on Permanency for Young Children in the Child Welfare System.

Power of the Court to Appoint Counsel

Under current statutes, in a proceeding under the Children's Code, the court assigned to exercise jurisdiction under the Children's Code (juvenile court) may appoint counsel for the child and any other party, with one exception. The juvenile court may not appoint counsel for any party other than the child, an Indian parent, or an Indian custodian in a proceeding in which it is alleged that a child is in need of protection or services (CHIPS). This statutory prohibition, however, was ruled unconstitutional by the Wisconsin Supreme Court in Joni B. v. State, 202 Wis. 2d 1 (1996), on the grounds that the prohibition constitutes a violation of the separation of powers doctrine of the Wisconsin Constitution.

This bill eliminates the statutory prohibition placed on a juvenile court regarding appointment of counsel for parents, clarifying in the statutes that a court has the power to appoint counsel for any party, including a parent 18 years of age or over, to a CHIPS proceeding, consistent with constitutional law.

Right to Counsel and Referral to the State Public Defender

Under current law, a parent over the age of 18 does not have a statutory right to be represented by counsel during a CHIPS proceeding. Therefore, the juvenile court may not refer such a parent to the state public defender (SPD) for possible representation. The juvenile court may, however, appoint counsel at its discretion, in which case the parent's legal representation is provided at the county's expense.

This bill grants a parent of any age the right to counsel in a CHIPS proceeding, if the child has been taken into custody, thereby permitting such a parent to be represented by an SPD. In order for an SPD to be appointed immediately for a temporary physical custody hearing, the juvenile court may order an indigency determination at the conclusion of the hearing, rather than upon the initial referral to SPD.

Under the bill, the right to counsel for a parent in a CHIPS proceeding sunsets on June 30, 2017. Also, the SPD and the Department of Children and Families (DCF) must each submit a report by January 1, 2017, to the Joint Committee on Finance and each house of the legislature regarding the costs and data from implementing a parent's right to counsel in a CHIPS proceeding.

Elimination of Jury Trial in a CHIPS or Termination of Parental Rights Proceeding

Under current law, a party to a CHIPS or termination of parental rights (TPR) proceeding may request a trial by a jury to determine if there are grounds to grant a CHIPS adjudication or TPR order.

This bill eliminates the right to request a jury trial in both CHIPS and TPR proceedings.

10 the parent's ability to reimburse the state for the costs of representation. If the court
11 determines that the parent is able to make reimbursement for all or part of the costs
12 of representation, the court may order the parent to reimburse the state an amount
13 not to exceed the maximum amount established by the public defender board under 14 s. 977.075 (4). Upon the court's request, the state public defender shall conduct a 15 determination of indigency under s. 977.07 and report the results of the 16 determination to the court.

18 of the county where the proceedings took place. The clerk of courts shall transmit 19 payments under this section to the county treasurer, who shall deposit 25 percent of 20 the payment amount in the county treasury and transmit the remainder to the

This SECTION also specifies that at, or after, the conclusion of a CHIPS proceeding in which the SPD provided counsel, the juvenile court may inquire as to the parent's ability to reimburse the state for the costs of representation in the CHIPS proceeding. If the juvenile court determines that the parent is able to reimburse the state for the costs of representation, the juvenile court may order the parent to reimburse the state an amount not to exceed the maximum amount established by the SPD board, by rule, for the type of case.
