Referred to Committee on Financial Services, Constitution and Federalism.

1 To amend section 6 of article I, section 8 (2) of article I and section 8 (3) of article I
2 of the constitution; relating to: eligibility and conditions for release prior to 3 conviction of persons accused of certain crimes and considerations for imposing
4 bail (first consideration).

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under the Wisconsin Constitution, all of the following apply:

1. A person accused of a crime is eligible for release before conviction under reasonable conditions designed to assure the appearance of the accused in court, protect members of the community from serious bodily harm, or prevent the intimidation of witnesses.

2. The legislature is authorized to provide by law that a court may deny release to a person accused of certain serious felonies for specified periods of time only if the court finds based on clear and convincing evidence that the accused committed the felony and that available conditions of release will not adequately protect members of the community from serious bodily harm or prevent the intimidation of witnesses.

3. Monetary bail may be imposed only upon a finding that there is a reasonable basis to believe that it is necessary to assure the appearance of the accused in court.

This constitutional amendment, proposed to the 2017 legislature on first consideration, does all of the following:

1. Provides that the accused is eligible for release before conviction under reasonable conditions designed to protect members of the community from serious harm, not just serious bodily harm, in addition to the other conditions specified above.

2. Authorizes the legislature to provide by law that a court may deny release to a person accused of certain serious felonies if the court finds that available conditions of release will not adequately protect members of the community from serious harm, not just serious bodily harm, in addition to the other findings specified above.

3. Eliminates the requirement that monetary bail may be imposed only upon a finding that there is a reasonable basis to believe that it is necessary to assure the appearance of the accused in court. Instead, the constitutional amendment requires that a court, in fixing the amount of bail, must consider the seriousness of the offense charged, the previous criminal record of the accused, the probability that the accused will appear in court, and the need to protect members of the community from serious harm or prevent the intimidation of witnesses.

A constitutional amendment requires adoption by two successive legislatures, and ratification by the people, before it can become effective.

6 the previous criminal record of the accused, the probability that the accused will
7 appear in court, and the need to protect members of the community from serious
8 harm or prevent the intimidation of witnesses.

9 SECTION 2. Section 8 (2) of article I of the constitution is amended to read:

10 [Article I] Section 8 (2) All persons, before conviction, shall be eligible for

14 the initial appearance ~~only upon a finding that there is a reasonable basis to believe~~

3 SECTION 3. Section 8 (3) of article I of the constitution is amended to read:

4 [Article I] Section 8 (3) The legislature may by law authorize, but may not 5 require, circuit courts to deny release for a period not to exceed 10 days prior to the 6 hearing required under this subsection to a person who is accused of committing a 7 murder punishable by life imprisonment or a sexual assault punishable by a 8 maximum imprisonment of 20 years, or who is accused of committing or attempting 9 to commit a felony involving serious bodily harm to another or the threat of serious
10 bodily harm to another and who has a previous conviction for committing or 11 attempting to commit a felony involving serious bodily harm to another or the threat
12 of serious bodily harm to another. The legislature may authorize by law, but may not 13 require, circuit courts to continue to deny release to those accused persons for an 14 additional period not to exceed 60 days following the hearing required under this 15 subsection, if there is a requirement that there be a finding by the court based on 16 clear and convincing evidence presented at a hearing that the accused committed the 17 felony and a requirement that there be a finding by the court that available
18 conditions of release will not adequately protect members of the community from 19 serious bodily harm or prevent intimidation of witnesses. Any law enacted under 20 this subsection shall be specific, limited and reasonable. In determining the 10-day 21 and 60-day periods, the court shall omit any period of time found by the court to 22 result from a delay caused by the defendant or a continuance granted which was 23 initiated by the defendant.
