5 (6) (b) 4. and 120.06 (7) (a) of the statutes; relating to: the filing of nomination
6 papers by certain candidates for local elective office.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, a town or village may provide that candidates for a town or village elective office may be nominated at a caucus, rather than by filing nomination papers. This bill eliminates that caucus option and requires the filing of nomination papers for all town and village elective offices.

Also under current law, certain school districts may, but are not required to, provide for the filing of nomination papers by candidates for the school board. This bill requires that nomination papers be filed by all candidates for election to the school board.
